The link between animal abuse and human violence

Research has established a strong connection between abuse towards animals, and abuse towards people.

When a person abuses an animal there is a risk that they may also be abusive towards other people in their lives.

Children who experience abuse towards animals, or abuse within the home, are also more likely to abuse animals or perform acts of violence towards people later in life. They repeat lessons learnt in the home: to react to anger with violence, and to perform this violence on more

为警惕。

古人说：‘千百年来晚碗里羹，冤深似海恨难平，欲知世上刀兵劫，但听屠门夜半声。’从千百年以来，我们所吃的一碗羹肉汤，看上去只是一碗汤，可是其中的冤仇，犹如大海那么的深。要知道世上为什么有那么多打不完战争、灾劫、瘟疫，皆是由吃肉造成的。若是你想了解其中的道理，那么你半夜去屠宰场听一听，有猪哭，杀牛有牛哭，杀羊有羊哭，这种凄惨的哭声，声声的哀号，声声的怨，这种种的冤毒、仇恨充塞在虚空中，才造成种种世间的灾难。假使人人都素食，这些冤孽就会平息，可以化干戈为玉帛，化暴戾为吉祥，庶几能挽回灾劫之将临，是为序。 vegan diet can provide many health benefits, such as a reduced risk of chronic diseases, including:

Vegetarians and vegans also have lower rates of illness and death from a number of degenerative diseases.

High IQ link to being vegetarian

Intelligent children are more likely to become vegetarians later in life, a study says.

A Southampton University team found those who were vegetarian by 30 had recorded five IQ points more on average at the age of 10.

Vegetarianism has been linked to better heart health

Researchers said it could explain why people with higher IQ were healthier as a vegetarian diet was linked to lower heart disease and obesity rates.

The study of 8,179 was reported in the British Medical Journal.

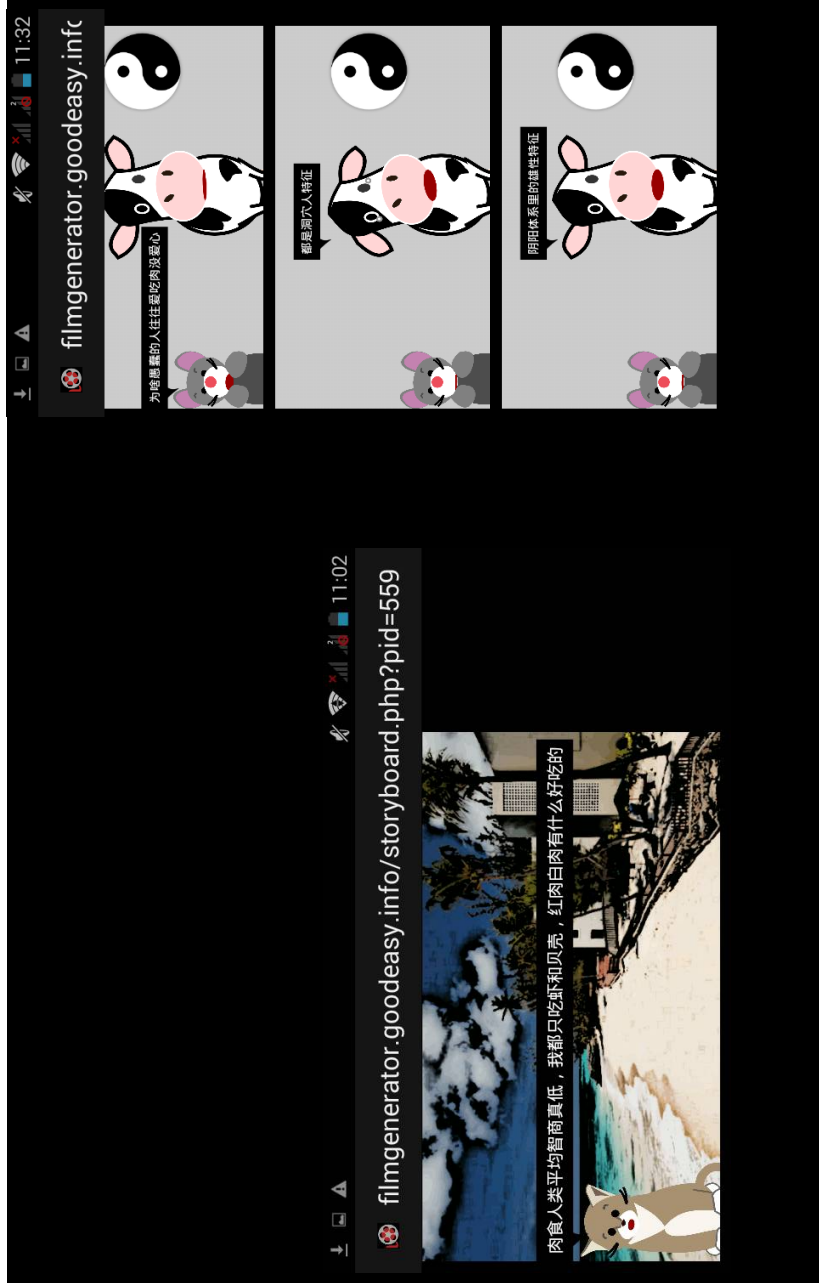

Twenty years after the IQ tests were carried out in 1970, 36 of the participants said they were vegetarian - although more than 100 reported eating either fish or chicken.

Men who were vegetarian had an IQ score of 106, compared with 101 for non-vegetarians; while female vegetarians averaged 104, compared with 99 for non-vegetarians.

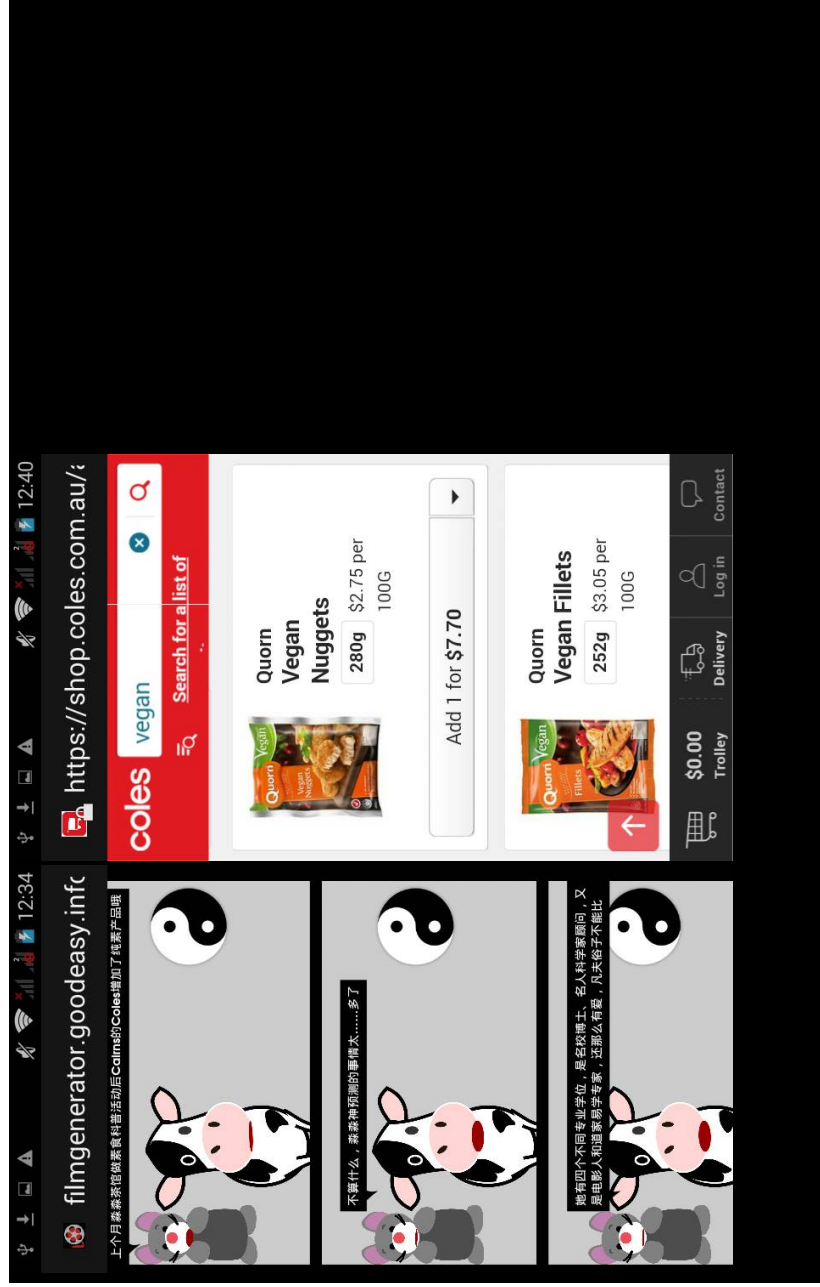

There was no difference in IQ score between strict vegetarians and those who said they were vegetarian but who reported eating fish or chicken.

We've always known that vegetarianism is an intelligent compassionate choice benefiting animals, people and the environment
Liz O'Neill, of The Vegetarian
